FALL'S ELECTION MAY BE ASSAILED

one, thus paving the way for the reorganization of the two houses.

Speakership Candidates Active.

The announcement, though unofficial, has started no little activity in legislative circles and already there are half a dozen candidates prominently mentioned for the speakership of the house to succeed speaker Ramon L. Baca. Among these may be mentioned Maj. W. H. H. Llewellyn, of Dona Ana county; John Baron Burg, leader of the "progressive" faction, who represents Bernalillo county in the house; James W. Chavez, of Torrance county; Judge O. T. Toombs, of Union county; and Marcos C. de Baca, unsuccessful candidate for congressman on the Progressive party ticket at the November election.

Baca to Have Trouble.

It is conceded that speaker Baca will have trouble holding his job. He is out of harmony with the so-called "old guard" faction, because of his independent tactics in the last session, when he refused to be bossed by the Republican organization members, and held out for several weeks against the domination and wishes of the party leaders, thus causing a serious split in the party ranks and seriously embarrassing their program for legislation. Because of this action then, it is said that the organization Republicans will trot out a candidate to succeed him and use every endeavor possible to reduce him to the ranks.

The "Regular" Candidates.

Of those most prominently mentioned as candidates, Judge Toombs and Chavez are in harmony with the regulars, and it is believed that either would suit the Republican wing in preference to Baca. While the Democrats are in the minority, they, too, may take a hand in the speakership fight, and either try to elect one of their number or else combine with the progressives and make possible the election of either Burg, Llewellyn or de Baca.

With the prospects for a fight over both the speakership and the senate, the approaching legislative session promises to furnish thrills without number.

CIVIL SUIT MAY BE BROUGHT AGAINST GRAND TRUNK LINE

Washington, Dec. 24.—The department of justice today began considering the further moves under the Sherman anti-trust law against the New York, York, New Haven and Hartford and Grand Trunk railroads, officials of which were indicted at New York yesterday.

The government officials are now giving special attention to the possibility of bringing civil suit under the Sherman law, against the two roads to enjoin them from continuing the alleged combination.

It's a tonic and body builder—because it stimulates the liver to vigorous action, assists the stomach to assimilate food—thus enriching the blood, and the nerves and heart in turn are fed on pure rich blood. Neuralgia is the cry of starved nerves for food. For forty years "Golden Medical Discovery" in liquid form has given great satisfaction as a tonic and blood maker.

firing only five rounds to a man, while the federalists had much ammunition during the night.

"There was no looting, Salazar soon entered the town and insisted on paying for all supplies received. He was accompanied by Gen. Rojas. I was in the same room with the rebel generals, who treated me well, when they learned who I was and that I was in Asencio's of business. When the messengers arrived telling of the Casas Grandes capture and the defeat of Blanco the cheering lasted for several minutes before I could learn what had happened."

MEXICAN TARIFF FIVE INCREASED 5 PERCENT

Mexico City, Mex., Dec. 24.—The chamber of deputies has levied a flat increase of five percent on import duties. This, however, does not dispose of the general tariff revision bill, which provides a special tax on numerous articles, especially luxuries.

WILSON SMOKED ONCE, THAT WAS ENOUGH

President Elect Tells Story of Experience When He Receives Pipe for Christmas Present.

Trenton, N. J., Dec. 24.—The arrival of a gold mounted, amber stemmed meerschaum pipe, at the White House today, from one of Gov. Wilson's Princeton friends, in Vicksburg, Miss., brought from the president elect the confession that once in his life, and only once, did he smoke.

"It was this way," he said. "My father was a smoker and I, too, had been and got to the stage where he liked a fat, black cigar. In his leisure hours my mother took advantage of his habit and employed him to blow the pungent smoke over her rosebushes to kill insects. One day when he was not at home, she suggested that I try it on one of her favorite plants, and I obliged. For five minutes I steamed away like a furnace, and then it hit me with disastrous effects. I never tried it after that."

JUDGE FLETCHER M. DOAN WILL LOCATE IN DOUGLAS

Tombstone, Ariz., Dec. 24.—After a residence of over 10 years in Tombstone, most of which time was spent as judge of the second judicial district of Arizona and associate justice of the supreme court of Arizona, Judge Fletcher M. Doan has gone to Douglas to reside. Judge Doan will enter into a partnership, father and son, under the name of Doan and Doan. The firm has been in the center of the Sherman law, against the two roads to enjoin them from continuing the alleged combination.

DEATHS AND BURIALS

MRS. WINIFRED ANDRESEN.
Mrs. Winifred Buffington Andresen, 15 years of age, wife of Arthur Andresen, died at his home, 314 Rayner street, at 3 o'clock Tuesday morning. She was 18 years old, but four months ago, and was very popular among the younger set in El Paso society.

She is survived by her husband, who was with her at the time of her death, as was her mother, Mrs. Florence Andresen, of El Paso. Her aunt, Mrs. Lillian Ivy, resides in El Paso.

Funeral services will be held Christmas afternoon at the chapel, 508 Texas street, and the body will be shipped to Hot Springs, Ark., for burial. Mrs. Andresen was a native of Arkansas, and had lived in El Paso many years.

ELAR EXPLAINS THE ROAD BONDS of the valley that lies north of the railroad tracks. From interviews with the farmers living there, a road parallel to the main road, with a few connecting crossroads, in my opinion, will give them as much service as the same sum expended in cross roads. At the same time the people who live in El Paso can learn so much more about the valley by going down one way and coming back the other. Many cities like Los Angeles and San Antonio have been built up by making them pleasant places for desirable people to come and live in them, and one of their big inducements has been their good roads. El Paso city pays 80 percent of this road tax.

Upper Valley Works.

The upper valley should have its appropriation to place the present road to Anthony in better shape, and to build crossroads to it. The people in this part of the valley have shown commendable public spirit in their road work. They voted a special $1000 bond issue last year, which has been used to build several hundred dollars besides for road work.

"There are doubtless other minor pieces of road work that would be cared for out of this bond issue."

"One hundred and sixty-five tax payers presented a petition for this bond election. It was signed by Michael J. Hannan, of Scranton, Pa., and against other defendants "was not sufficient to convict them."

MONTROYA BRIDGE CONTRACT APPROVED

Structure to Cost $6475 to Be Constructed by the County; Bridge at Vinton Next.

A contract calling for the expenditure of $6475 for the erection of a bridge at Montroya, Texas, was approved by the county commissioners Tuesday. The material for the bridge has already been ordered and the pile driver which was necessary for the work is expected to arrive within the next two weeks. One half of the amount for the bridge will be paid out of the recent $7000 bond issue. The sum of $1500 donated by the residents at Montroya will make up the residue. The county will put up $1475 for the bridge.

The other half of the bond issue being $3500, will be set aside for the construction of a bridge at Vinton, where the residents of that section contribute the sum of $1500, the amount said to have been promised when the project was voted upon. The commissioners granted a quit claim deed to Frederico Arroyas to land on the San Elmarico Island.

FIFTEEN INJURED IN GEORGIA WRECK

Americus, Ga., Dec. 24.—Fifteen persons were injured, several seriously, when passenger train No. 2, known as the "Georgia Special," on the Central of Georgia railroad, was wrecked near Americus today. The train was filled with tourists bound from Florida to points in the center of the state.

A bad alignment of the rails was given as the cause of the accident. The sleepers left the rails but did not turn over.

PORT MANGAL IS ASSAILED IN COURT

iron workers' headquarters 60,000 letters. From these the government took 400 letters in which it was sought to show a conspiracy existed.

"Did the government read these 400?" No, only parts of those letters were read, the parts which the prosecution thought showed a conspiracy.

"Why, since the time for a change in the administration of this country approaches, I have received scores of letters on a variety of subjects. If you read those letters literally you might convict the writers with almost any charge you wished to make against them."

The excretors' association, to which Senator Kern referred with an oration of open shop contractors against whom the iron workers' union had called for a strike.

Referring to what he called "the interests which wanted to see these men prosecuted," Senator Kern said:

"When the greatest criminal of the century is prosecuted—and it will be—it will be an act of retribution, if these laboring men on trial were called upon to pass upon the letters that would be produced."

Senator Kern Described as "the third degree" certain federal investigations in Los Angeles.

Senator Kern described as "the third degree" certain federal investigations in Los Angeles. Oscar Lawler, special assistant to the attorney general, and Arthur L. Veitch, deputy district attorney of Los Angeles county, had testified that Clancy was examined in Los Angeles, that because of heart trouble, Clancy called by a nurse and that seeing McManis through a door he fainting.

The third degree has become so onerous that recently a congressional investigation was ordered," said Senator Kern. "We had supposed it was practiced only by the police. No one ever thought of its being used by higher authorities. Yet that was what was done in Clancy's case. When in such a condition that stimulants had to be given him, he was put through a third degree. It is a disgraceful and contempt of law and decency."

Prosecutor Scores Senator.

Referring to Senator Kern's argument, district attorney Charles W. Miller said to the jury:

"The United States senator paid by the people to serve the people and who ought to be in Washington attending to the duties of his office, has dared to raise his voice in defense of such consummate criminals as Herbert S. Clancy and those who aided him in his crime. He has dared to defend a sworn federal officer because he did not detect a child's cross examination of these defendants."

The only argument made here in defense of these men was in the name of the defendants' wives and children. Subsequent to the trial of several of the 21 persons killed in the Los Angeles Times disaster."

HETTY GREEN IN WILL CONTEST

The experts showed that the four signatures were identical—so admirably identical that when superimposed each fitted the other to the thickness of an eyelash. The experts contended that no two genuine signatures are ever just alike. They even found the true signature from which the four false ones had been copied, and found that on the day the will was supposed to have been signed, the police will work to find the five genuine signatures differed widely from each other and from the four forged ones.

Sylvia Ann Howland, an aged spinster, died in New Bedford, Mass., in 1865, leaving an estate of more than $2,000,000. Two wills were produced. In the will of 1863 her niece and companion, Hetty Robinson, afterward known as Hetty Green, was generously remembered. By the will of 1860 Hetty Robinson inherited practically all. It contained a single page, that of the "second page," inserted after the first page of an admittedly genuine earlier will. Miss Robinson testified that Miss Howland had dictated this "second page" to her in duplicate. Both pages were in Miss Robinson's writing, but each bore the signature of Miss Howland. The beneficiaries under the will of 1863 charged that the signatures on this duplicated "second page" had been forged by Miss Robinson. Every handwriting expert of note in the United States was engaged. The contention of the defendants was stated in these words in volume 4, American Law Reports:

"The signature to the will was confessedly genuine. But it appeared on superimposing the other two signatures which appeared on the duplicated 'second page,' over this, that the covering was so exact, letter for letter, stroke for stroke, and that not merely the covering existed, together with identity of all the spaces between the letters and the words, but that the locality on the paper and the distance from the margins of the signatures so nearly coincided that the defendants, supported by the opinion of some of the best experts in the country, were led to forward the theory that this extraordinary coincidence was not the result of chance, but of design. They claimed that these papers had been forged by tracing the original signatures of the will. It was beyond the house of probability, they argued, that this coincidence of precise covering could occur in short, and, however, the probability—but infinitely increased—that just the signatures the plaintiff wanted could match the only one she had. They also disputed signatures bore signs of tracing."

Through experts, Miss Robinson met the contentions of the defense, point for point, statement for statement. She is supposed to have spent $150,000 for counsel and experts, that being by far the greatest sum ever expended for such employment up to that time. In the end a compromise was reached, and the court did not decide the case. This compromise, according to the Law Reporter, "is understood to be the withdrawal of the complainant's appeal on payment of her expenses, costs and counsel fees, etc. The will of 1863 remains the will of Sylvia Howland."

PEACE ENVOYS ARE TAKING A VACATION

Not Working on the Balkan Matter; Proposals Looking to End War Are Going Very Slowly.

London, Eng., Dec. 24.—The peace envoys are enjoying themselves in various ways during the interim between meetings. One or two of them have gone to Paris and others are spending the time with friends in Italy.

The present long break in the negotiations of the peace delegates is in all probability only the first of several, for when the plenipotentiaries come to gather again in St. James palace on Saturday, the Ottoman response to the conditions of peace laid down by the Balkan allies doubtless will be found to be merely a series of counter proposals, which will have to be referred to the Balkan governments. This will necessitate another long interval.

There remains little doubt in diplomatic circles, however, that the crisis ultimately will be surmounted without a resumption of hostilities. Despite the outward appearance of a unity of views, it is known that there is considerable latent jealousy among the allied nations, and as time tends to sharpen the differences as to the amount of credit due to the work of the respective armies, there are indications of a desire on the part of the members of the Balkan league to hasten the settlement.

COURT RESERVES DECISION IN IDAHO CONTENT CASE

Boise, Idaho, Dec. 24.—R. S. Sheridan, publisher, and C. O. Broxton, managing editor, of the Evening Capital-News, were cited for contempt, before the supreme court of Idaho, for the publishing of the message of Col. Roosevelt to the people of Idaho, during the recent campaign, together with editorial comment on the court's decision today. The court announced that the decision would be given on the first day of the January term of court Jan. 1.

The only evidence introduced in the case was in behalf of A. R. Cruse, who also was cited as an alleged stockholder in the publication. Cruse had been prevented from appearing in person, but he controlled the policy of the paper. Evidence was produced to show that he was in no way interested.

POLICE AND FIRE PAY IS INCREASED

Incidentally the Administration Makes a Hit With the Unions—And the Primaries Are Coming.

Mayor Kelly announces an increase of $5 a month in the pay of the firemen and policemen of the city, beginning with the first of the new fiscal year, next April. After Jan. 1, he announces, the police will work but eight hours. This will necessitate the increase of the present police force 23.3 percent, as the men are now working 12 hours.

The innovations come as a result of continued efforts of the Central Labor union, with which organization, "the ring," has not been the best of standing for a long time. The aspect of things is now changed and "the ring" leaders expect at least an even break with the labor union vote in the April primaries. Meantime, the cost of the police department in particular, as a result of the shorter hours and increased pay, will be considerable more to the taxpayers.

It is generally conceded that an increase in wages granted to the firemen and policemen was due, although many think the police and fire scale should be increased in accordance with the service of the men, and that older men should be paid more than new ones.

Regarding hours of the police, in New York City patrolmen are kept on duty 12 hours. Three reliefs are employed, but each patrolman has to remain on duty for four hours after he has walked his beat for eight hours.

The Texas eight-hour law did not affect police and firemen of cities, although it affected all the city employees performing manual labor.

MONSTER TREE IN NEW YORK PARK

Celebration to Be Held in Madison Square This Evening—Exercises About the Big Tree.

New York, N. Y., Dec. 24.—The big, popular Christmas tree in Madison square, which will be an outdoor novelty during the holiday season here, is in place. The tree is so big that it took a four horse team to pull it to the square. It is 60 feet high, 18 inches in diameter and its lower branches have a sweep of 20 feet. A great choral festival about the tree, with many nationalities participating, is planned for Christmas eve.
